

I would like to add my support to XM satellite radio's right to provide the services we as Americans expect from radio. As a person who began receiving radio on a crystal set in my childhood to today, where my wife and I can roam the country in an rv and receive reception from XM no matter where we are. We have chosen to pay for this radio service and we hope the NAB's interference will be rejected. The news and weather we receive is a part of our daily life, and if it was stopped on satellite radio, we would be very unhappy. Local radio signals cannot provide what XM does. Thanks, Keith McMillin
